Good morning & welcome to the Bible Chapel!

As I write this the rain is falling steadily outside and I am reminded of God's goodness. Although God's goodness is an unchanging quality, many of you are experiencing hard times financially and vocationally. This places strains on relationships and stress and pressure build up to levels that can be intolerable. I encourage you to share your concerns with someone you trust and definitely share them with God who understands our every need. There will be a time at the end of the service today for you to ask for prayer regarding any issues you are facing, big or small!

There has been a change to my schedule regarding study arrangements. Justin and I, head off on Monday to Carey Baptist College to a course entitled 'Introduction To Preaching'. A bit late for you, I hear some of you say!! Maybe!! But I'm really looking forward to the opportunity to update my skill set and ask that you pray for Justin and I as we set aside this time for study. It does mean that I won't be around next week but ring the office if you want to get a message to me, see someone else or make a time to see me next week.

Have a great week. Jeff

Letter from the Elders

You should all have received a letter in the mail recently communicating progress towards our stated plans for 2009. If you didn't receive a letter we apologize for the slip-up on our part. Please ask for one at the office AND make sure we have your correct details for future communications. We will be working towards using email for the majority of our future communications but are very happy to use 'regular' mail for those without easy email access. (We will be contacting you for your preference. Please keep in mind that email is much more cost efficient in terms of time and cost of 'mailing'.)
